Idea

The use of stainless steel has seen the start of a new era in architectural design in general and for railing design in particular. Making stainless steel railings has always been a matter for specialists and this still holds true today. It calls for professionals. But even professionals can have their lives made easier if railing systems are modular.

Safety

Safety is very important in railing manufacture. This is particularly true if glass is used. Certain vertical and horizontal forces must be absorbed in such a way that the product cannot break even if it is subjected to extreme stresses. The only clamps we use are absolutely secure and comply with European standards.

Installation

All the products from Redifloor are very easy to assemble. The support parts are bolted and the insert parts glued. Both assembly methods offer specific benefits. Installation work is fast and clean and above all no reworking is necessary.
